SWIFT'S SON FINED

WAUKEGAN, ILL., Sept. 7.—Louis F. Swift, Jr., son of the millionaire packer, was fined $200 in county court here today for "taking a drink" at Zion City Saturday. Swift pleaded guilty to the charge. His companion, Dr. George E. Neovius, of Chicago, was given the same fine.

FOREST FIRES ARE THREATENING MANY MINNESOTA TOWNS

MCGRATH MINN., Sept. 7.—Desperate battles are being fought today by state troops and hundreds of citizens to prevent the destruction of a half dozen towns and hamlets in this district by forest fires. The fate of several towns depends, according to word from the fire lines early today, on the caprices of the wind.

Arthide, Johnsdale and Hillman are three towns where a last ditch fight is being made. Guardsmen and citizens were holding their own despite a stiff wind early today and in most places the fires were under control. Should the wind increase in velocity, it was declared, there will be little hope of saving Arthide.

In the Solana region, according to reports received here, twenty families are endangered by flames that now cover a five mile front. A force of 300 fire fighters is building backfires in the hope of checking the conflagration.

Refugees by the hundreds are pouring into McGrath today and relief agencies already are taxed to the utmost to care for those made homeless by the fires. Whole families have been homeless and penniless by the destruction of the dwellings.

Y. Such players as McGraw, Dahlen, Rust, Gilbert, Bowerman, Donlin and Bresnahan are being counted on for the veterans line-up.

COMMITTEE OF THE FEDERATION BLAMES ILLS UPON REACTION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Responsibility for the growing unemployment throughout the country was placed squarely upon the administration and its reactionary majority in congress by a report just made public by the legislative committee of the American Federation of Labor.

"Reaction has been in the saddle," the report declares, "and any member of congress who raises his voice in the interests of the people is ridiculed, denounced or misrepresented. Although destitution will be the rule as the result of unemployment, and not the exception, Congress will continue to fiddle."

"Bills for the reclamation of waste lands and for housing have been introduced in both houses of Congress, but nothing has been done about them. Any bill that has for its purpose public works that will give employment to the idle is disregarded."

The report states unemployment is growing at an alarming rate and predicts hunger parades as a result of "these non-constructive and reactionary policies."

"The secretary of labor submitted a report August 16 showing there were 5,735,000 unemployed," the report continues, "but this does not tell the whole story. There are other millions who only work two or three days a week. No greater indictment of the failure of Congress to enact constructive legislation could be found."

The administration is scored for discharging federal employees in an attempt to save a few thousand here and there while an attempt is being made to loan the railroads $500,000,000. It concludes with the warning that "Congress must get down to business and legislate for the great masses of the people instead of for a privileged few."

LOCAL CARPENTERS REDUCE WAGE SCALE 11 PER CT. SEPT. 12

A reduction of approximately 11 per cent in the wage scale of the local union carpenters was approved of an ad resolution putting the reduction into effect, Monday morning, September 12, was passed at a meeting of the carpenters' local held Tuesday evening.

With this reduction, the carpenters' wage an hour becomes 80 cents instead of 90 cents. The reduction has been a matter of discussion among the carpenters for some time, but until this time it had seemed impossible to get all of the members of the local union to agree upon a reduction.

COTTON THE FIRST OF INDUSTRIES TO SEE RE-ADJUSTMENT

Textile Industries Of New England Lead America In The Return To "Normalcy"

WORLD PRICES GO UP

Woolen Textile Industry Likewise Will Run To Full Capacity Thru Coming Winter

BOSTON, Sept. 7.—The cotton textile industry of America, which centers in New England, has, according to figures tabulated here today, the distinction of being the first in America to come safely thru the period of readjustment. An eight-cent rise in the price of cotton, together with government figures, showing a 69.3 percent crop, has been followed by an increased demand for the staple and the actual resumption of manufacturing in full force in practically every mill center in New England. In addition, the rise in cotton quotations on all the exchanges has increased the value of cotton now held and expected as the seasons crop in the south more than $500,000,000.

Yesterday, the price of cotton at Liverpool and other world markets went up nearly thirteen dollars a bale. At the end of July 5,200,000 bales were known to have been in storage in the south. The net increase in the value of this cotton in one day therefore has been nearly $70,000,000. Coming simultaneously with this increase in price New England milling centers have made tremendous increases in their actual consumption of cotton for manufacturing.

The resumption of milling operations means a great lessening of unemployment in New England. Already the best known mills are working day and night to supply the increased demand for cotton fabrics.

In Fall River the mills which have either been shut down or on part time were to resume full operations. In New Bedford, where higher quality textiles are made, the figures today showed the mills were operating at 90 percent of normal. In Lowell, where there was a serious condition of unemployment, the mills have resumed operations and today were to go on a full time schedule. In Manchester, N. H., the biggest mills today started overtime operations, while no mill is working less than sixty per cent of capacity.

Important orders have been received in Lawrence and these mills not yet busy are expected to open soon.

The woolen textile industry likewise reports increased business and optimism. According to William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Co., all the mills of his concern are already assured of capacity business through the winter. This will help to quiet much of the unemployment fear which has been felt in New England. The American Woolen Co., alone employs approximately 20,000.

In Lawrence, where almost forty thousand have been unemployed, the mills were to resume 90 percent operations with a corresponding force of operatives.

The New York cotton market rose $10 a bale yesterday, the maximum permitted under the rules of the exchange. Further increases are expected today.

JOHN KING PLEADS GUILTY TO BOOZE CHARGE WEDNESDAY

After spending all of Monday and Tuesday in the county jail, John King Wednesday morning changed his plea from not guilty to guilty on a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor, and was fined $100 and costs by Mayor W. S. Tish. In addition to the fine, his automobile license was revoked until January 1, 1921.

King was fined $10 and costs on a charge of intoxication and $25 and costs for driving a car while intoxicated. Monday, Arrangements were made to pay all of his fines and King was released Wednesday morning. James Fortune, who was arrested Monday on a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor for sale, was still in the county jail Wednesday. No arrangements had been made to pay his fine, and it was considered probable that he would be sent to the workhouse.

The grain and sugar which was confiscated by the raiding officers, was returned to Mrs. James Fortune for use in her home.

ROTARIANS ENJOY RUSTIC MEETING AT COUNTRY CLUB

One of the most enjoyable meetings ever attended by the Rotary club members was held at the Country Club Tuesday evening.

Invitations to the affair were sent out last week by Clarence Clemens and Edgar Marshall, the committee in charge of the entertainment. The invitations stipulated that the gentlemen should come dressed in overalls or other clothes suitable for work, and that the ladies should be dressed in gingham dresses.

This rule was faithfully observed by the majority of the members, and the few who came dressed for a party, were handcuffed and forced to change into the desired raiment.

The lunch was served in the form of a "handout" and was eaten without the aid of man made tools.

Miss Kerma Bradford gave several readings appropriate to the occasion, followed by a few readings by Miss Helen Moore, of Spring Mountain. Mrs. Carl Meade gave a short talk on the life of James Russell Lowell, and Mrs. J. S. Elliott told of the life of James Whitcomb Riley.

Charles Cooper, Dr. W. R. Davis, Clarence Linsenmeyer, and Miss Cora Edwards, all entertained with vocal solos.

Mr and Mrs E. A. Crawford presented a humorous sketch of "If a Body Meet a Body Coming Thru the Rye."

A mixed quartet composed of Mrs. George Mitchell, Miss Cora Edwards, Charles Cooper and Dr. W. R. Davis sang a selection from classic opera.

The customary talk on the other fellow's vocation, was given by Carl Meade. He chose as his subject "Dentistry," and treated it in a humorous manner, in keeping with the spirit of the meeting.

As a grand finale, the piazza of the club was cleared of tables and chairs and James Newton and Harold Stevenson furnished old time southern tunes on the violin and piano while the guests danced the Virginia Reel.

BEGIN ADVERTISING FOR STYLE SHOW

Eight automobiles loaded with local business men under the leadership of Carl B. Meade left Coshocton Wednesday morning for various points in the county where they will advertise the coming business men's style show, that is to take place in this city on Wednesday, September 21.

WAGES ADJUSTED

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Federal Judge K. M. Landis, acting as arbitrator in the building trades dispute, today ordered slashing cuts in wages in his arbitration decision. The new scale ranges downward from $1.25 an hour. It is believed that fifty thousand men will return to work under his decision. Stone carvers top the scale at $1.25 an hour with bricklayers, engineers, electricians and tile-layers getting $1.10. Lathers and roofers get $1 an hour and all others ranged down to $30 a week for teamsters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The Standard Oil Company still manages to eke out a living, according to its reports of quarterly dividends issued today.

The 29 Standard Oil subsidiaries earned cash dividends for the third quarter of 1921 of $27,336,817, compared with $29,504,000 during the third quarter last year, a decline of some $2,000,000.

Standard Oil of N. J., the parent company, which handles all the foreign trade of the organization, paid a total of $25,076,268 in cash dividends during the first three quarters of this year.

HOME SWEET HOME IS NOT SO SWEET REPUBLICANS FIND

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Republican congressmen from the north and midwest, who went back home for the congressional recess to spend a vacation and to rest, are returning to Washington.

The returning ones were relating sad tales today of their home reception. They were met by an army of unemployed men and discouraged farmers.

They were faced with a battery of questions as to what Congress was doing or would do to help conditions.

They were criticized for delay in helpful legislation and for failure to complete enactment of the tax and tariff revision legislation.

Finally, they were petitioned for jobs.

Under the conditions, many of the congressmen decided that Washington was a more comfortable place than home. They are returning filled with a determination to speed up legislation that may help in the restoration of business to normal, and are eagerly seeking some way to relieve the great evils of unemployment.

Those returning from Kansas, Iowa and other middle-west states admit they had difficulty in making their people understand why they had voted to repeal the heavier surtaxes on large incomes and allowed taxes to go unchanged on the smaller incomes. The business economies of this move by the Republicans—the effort to get money out of tax-free securities and turn it into business enterprise, was not understood clearly by the voters.

ATLANTIC CITY IS HIT BY FIRE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 7.—Rendezvous Park, a new amusement resort built last winter was almost totally destroyed by fire today. The damage is estimated at $150,000.

Streams of water were played on the boardwalk to keep the fire from spreading along the beach. The park was said to be one of the largest recreation parks of its kind in the country.

INVERNESS, SCOTLAND, Sept. 7.—The British cabinet's reply to Eamonn De Valera's latest note was despatched to Dublin late this afternoon.

INVERNESS, SCOTLAND, Sept. 7.—War or peace for Ireland hung in the balance today on the eve of the first British cabinet meeting ever held in Scotland. All of the members of the cabinet have arrived here from London with the exception of Marquis Curzon, who is ill, and as they assembled it was predicted freely that an ultimatum might be sent to the Sinn Fein giving a time limit for acceptance of the principle of the English peace offer.

Eamonn De Valera is still breathing defiance against England as was shown by his Dublin statement of Tuesday when he attacked the British proposals and challenged the government to send an ultimatum to Dublin. The absence of conciliation on the part of the Sinn Fein chief has not eased the path of the British deliberations and it was predicted that the cabinet meeting might last until tomorrow.

A reply to De Valera's note of last Thursday will be drafted before the meeting breaks up.

That Premier Lloyd George was determined upon decisive action and contemplated a decision of grave importance was indicated by the fact that he planned to motor to Moy Hall to consult with King George on the Irish situation.

The Premier was in informal consultation with British civil and military officials late Tuesday when there was a preliminary canvass of the late developments.

The present cabinet meeting is without precedent in the history of British statesmanship.

Never before has the cabinet been summoned so far away from London for a conference. In addition to the British cabinet, members, several Sinn Fein members are reported to be at Inverness although they will not be in communication with the English statesmen.

The International News Service learns authoritatively that the guiding statement of the cabinet members was as follows:

1—Arrange an immediate English-Sinn Fein conference at which questions affecting the peace solution shall be put and discussed plainly and bluntly.

2—The English government's offer to remain the final word in principle.

3—Demand of the Sinn Fein whether it is standing up upon its contention for a republic.

4—Interrogate the Sinn Fein officials whether they are willing or unwilling to agree to Ulster's retention of her present rights under the government of Ireland act.

If the Sinn Fein remains adamant the negotiations probably will end and the British will proceed with measures to protect Ulster province from attack by the Sinn Feiners of south Ireland.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—Official circles expect the British cabinet to dispatch its reply to Eamonn De Valera's latest note to Dublin from Inverness tonight. The cabinet is expected to hold another session at Inverness tomorrow to deal with the unemployment crisis.

The back is often called the matriarch of a woman's life. What can be done where can she go so long as that deadly backache saps every particle of her strength and ambition? She cannot walk, she cannot stand, her hour work is a burden or the long hours behind the counter in the office or factory are crushing. She is miserable. The cause is many times some derangement of her system and backache is a common symptom. GERMAN PAPER PRINTS GRAPE VINE ARTICLE ABOUT MORGAN'S VISIT

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—Sensational reports of a visit of J. P. Morgan to Berlin, which influenced the stock exchange and caused the price of German General Electric to sky-rocket 100 points were proved today to be a hoax. An investigation traced much of the responsibility to an imaginative reporter on the Berliner Tageblatt. An American who registered as "Parker Miller" of New York at the Bristol hotel and produced an authenticated passport was said by the Berliner Tageblatt to be the famous American banker who was traveling incognito. The Berliner Tageblatt reporter who was responsible for the story said that he had interviewed Felix Deutch, an official of the German Electric Company who admitted that "Parker Miller" was Mr. Morgan and that the two had conferred upon business matters.

Later in an interview with the International News Service, Herr Deutch denied that he had seen Mr. Morgan. The Borse committee has started an investigation to determine whether the reports of Mr. Morgan's presence here were started with the idea of influencing prices.

The Mittag Zeitung followed up the Berliner Tageblatt's story saying that Mr. Morgan was in Germany.

GOVT. CONTROL MAY RESULT FROM WEST VIRGINIA TROUBLE

Some Senators See In It
Only Permanent Solution of Coal Field Ills

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Government control of the West Virginia coal fields to end permanently the violence which has been recurring in them for years, is being seriously considered today by members of the Senate committee appointed to investigate the repeated conflicts between miners and operators.

In the continued absence of Senator Kenyon, Republican, Iowa, the chairman, the committee members were reluctant to discuss what recommendations would probably be made for preventing another outbreak in the mine war. Several of them expressed the opinion however, that the salutary effect that federal intervention has had upon the situation will be regarded as an object lesson by the committee when it makes a report to the Senate.

No change has been made yet in the plan to have the committee meet at Huntington, W. Va., on September 18, to proceed into the troublesome territory. It was stated. No word has been received from Senator Kenyon that he is contemplating any change in the plan which was made before the recent fighting began.

As a member of another Senate committee which in 1913, investigated conditions in West Virginia, similar to those existing there today, Senator Kenyon suggested that the government take over the coal mines then. The report he made at that time to the Senate reads as though he had written it as a result of the present investigation.

"It is well to inquire as to the reasons for such deplorable conditions," he stated. "Many things appear upon the surface which might be deemed cases, but they are only surface indications of a deeper trouble."

"The basic cause is the private ownership of great public necessities, such as coal; this coupled with human greed, incident to such ownership, has brought about the deplorable and un-American conditions in the West Virginia coal fields."

WILL NOT REOPEN MANDATE QUESTION

LONDON, Sept. 7.—President Harding's new mandate note to the League of Nations will not result in re-opening the question of the mandates by the allied powers, according to opinion advanced in official circles here today. It is understood France and Italy are determined to proceed with the mandate question according to the treaty of Versailles and will refuse to renew the negotiations on the subject.

Great Britain's position was summed up as follows by a well-informed political personage: "Great Britain greets the new Amer-

WAS BLESSING TO REYNOLD'S HOME

Akron Man Says By Restoring
His Wife's Health
Tanlac Has Meant Lots
To Them.

"My wife and I are both glad to recommend Tanlac, for it certainly has been a blessing in our home," said Harry E. Reynolds, 786 Bowery St., Akron, while at the Day drug store.

"For three years my wife suffered from nervousness and a persistent cough which kept her in miserable health. She couldn't do her housework and the least little noise would upset her entirely. She had no appetite, just could not sit down to the table and enjoy a meal, and nights she was so nervous and coughed so much neither of us could get much sleep."

"Well, it seemed that all the neighbors were praising Tanlac, so my wife started taking it. After finishing her sixth bottle she was sleeping just like a child at night and was relieved of that cough. Her appetite came back, too, and she now enjoys her meals just as well as I do. Tanlac certainly has meant a great deal to us, and we're both mighty thankful."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

can mandate note with the most pleasant smile but intends to forget the receipt of it."

The note has been in the chancelleries of the allied powers several days.

It is stated on the best authority in White Hall that A. J. Balfour, who is now in Geneva attending the League of Nations meeting, regards the American note as adding nothing to the mandate controversy. Mr. Balfour is backed in his opinion by the Foreign Office. British officials fear that discussions might lead to misunderstandings.

The United States raised the mandate question as a result of American opposition to Yap Island mandate. The mandates had already been distributed before the original American protest was made.

The distribution of the mandates was made by the supreme council, subject to the approval of the League of Nations assembly, at a time when America was without an official observer on the supreme council.

HALF OF ILLINOIS MINERS ARE IDLE

PEORIA, Sept. 6.—"Of the 90,000 miners in Illinois, approximately one-half are out of work and the rest are putting in only about one-third of normal working time," says Frank Farrington, head of the United Mine Workers of this district. "This condition has prevailed for the last six or eight months. The miners are in the most desperate financial plight of my experience and I have lived in this section all my life."

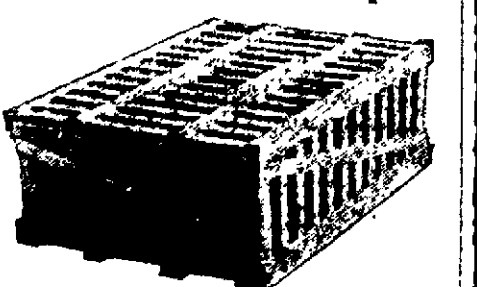

W. H. Thrush, another official of the United Mine Workers here, says that the miners in the counties about Peoria have not averaged one and a half days' work a week during the year. Thus the much discussed high wages amount to about $7 a week. "The miner gets $1.15 for digging and loading a ton of coal. He will average about five tons a day. This means his pay for a day and a half will be $8.65. Out of this he has to pay his mine expenses. His powder will run about $1.10; his fuse, blacksmithing and carbide, about 50 cents. This leaves him $7 a week."

"How far does that go these days? You could stretch the neck of the eagle until it looked like an ostrich and yet $7 wouldn't cover much."

The Disarmament Conference

NOT only our foreign policy but our financial policy as well is contingent upon the success of the conference which President Harding has called—anyway, upon some method of international co-operation to limit war cost.

The recent conflict taught us what military preparation must be, and the expenditure before the recent conflict will furnish no sort of gauge for that on which we shall have to embark if the race for military supremacy persists. If the people wish to continue to spend from 80 to 90 per cent of their Federal funds for war, the Government will execute their wishes. They are now doing this. They have averaged this fraction thruout their history.

Since the foundation of the Government we have expended in round numbers $67,000,000,000, and of this $58,000,000,000 were for war—that is, for the army, navy, their auxiliaries, pensions, and interest on the public debt. And yet we claim to be an enlightened, a civilized, a peaceful, and a Christian people. If the people wish this stopped they can stop it. They can bring their opinions to bear on their rulers. They can force them to take advantage of the present opportunity and engage in an international plan for disarmament.

It is obvious that if they do not do so, the least thing they will have to suffer is a continuance of mounting expenditures and of military disbursements, which will probably be as much higher than the recent ones, unthinkable as they are, as the latter were higher than those which preceded.

A Standardized World Coinage

HOW much is involved in the Italian decision to base the lira on the American gold dollar instead of the British pound sterling does not appear. It may mean anything from a mere change in bookkeeping to secession from the Latin monetary union.

What it should mean is a first step toward standardizing the coinage of the world. One who has never studied the subject is amazed to find how slight a shift in values would make ninetenths of the world's coins interchangeable. The United States, Canada and several smaller countries use the gold dollar as a standard. Great Britain, Australia, the British African colonies and Peru use the pound sterling.

France, Belgium, Italy, Spain, Greece, Bulgaria, Jugoslavia and a few other countries use the franc, under various names. Japan has the yen, Russia the ruble, Germany the mark. These countries, taken together, carry on more than 90 per cent of the world's commercial transaction. Now observe: One dollar equals 100 cents, 5 British shillings—one-fifth of a pound—equal 97.2 cents, 5 francs equal 96.3 cents, 4 marks equal 95.4, two yen equal 99.7 cents, 2 rubles equal 102.9 cents. In each case, of course, the actual coin is referred to not to the paper currency with its varying rates of exchange.

A Coinage Committee of the League of Nations ought to be able to perfect standardizing plans in a month—and think what the change would save in time and trouble.

Two Claims

THE War Department has rejected the claims of 38,000 former employees of the Bethlehem Steel Co. for some $1,500,000 in back pay promised them by the War Labor Board and vouched for in a letter over the signature of Assistant Secretary of War Crowell. The steel company was told that it would be compensated by the Government for increases paid in reward for speedier production. As the company failed to pay the increase the new administration, taking advantage of the letter of the transaction, has washed its hands of the claims. Because of present slackness in the steel industry many of the claimants are said to be destitute.

This claim and its rejection assumes a special interest in view of another war claim that is being pressed against the Government. The Ship Construction and Trading Co., to which the Shipping Board recently agreed to sell 205 wooden vessels at $2100 apiece, which is less than they would bring as kindling wood, has pending against the Shipping Board a claim for $619,230, which is the unpaid balance of an original claim of $1,952,230.94. For what? For building two of the vessels which it is now buying—205 of them—at $2100 each! Other claims grew out of complications which arose when the Shipping Board took over the company's yards.

Whatever the merits of the claims, persons familiar with Shipping Board matters believe that the machinery alone on the 205 vessels to be taken by the company will more than cover the total price paid. Now it is learned from the offices of a steamship company that it is negotiating for the purchase of 25 of the gift ships, not for kindling wood but for operation as ocean carriers. Another feature is that a clique of Connecticut politicians representing creditors are said to be actively pressing the claims of the company.

Where wage earners, out of work and destitute, are denied substantial claims in the name of economy will such a claim as that filed by the Ship Construction and Trading Co. be allowed?

New York Day-By-Day

Home and at my poor scribbling and using my accounts until Raymond Carroll the pamphleteer, came and we talked of this and that, rag, tax and hobbit! Then off with him to see a new painting at the gallery, a noble canvas done by a boy of the East Side, and to the park zoo gardens to see Berrio, the ape, who seems to miss her master M. Sat awhile with my wife in the evening and her she-cozzens came and much foolery, then with F. Carroll Hope to see the new African masque show, very good. Afterward to the apothecary for a beaker of pineapple juice and so home and to bed.

WALT MASON

AT THE DOOR

There's some one knocking at the door, and I shall rise and let him in; I'll show no visage grim or sore, but greet him with a cordial grin, and hang his hat upon the floor, and brace him up with kickless gin. I do not tremble any more when some one at the portal knocks, and fear it is some beastly bore who's come to bone me for the rocks that I am owing at the store, for shoes or sugar, sacks or socks. For now I pay my bills on time, and ask no man an hour to wait; I look upon it as a crime to fool the trusting merchant state who sells me lollipops or lime, expecting pay on such a date. Time was when I gave little heed to keeping Credit good and bright. I blew in all my chickpea-feed for every kind of vain delight, and let said Credit go to seed until it was a blowsy sight. Collectors chased me down the shore, and through the glen, and up the brae, and, as they tolled behind, they swore they'd get me yet, and make me pay; and when they thundered at my door I hid until they went away. It was a sport I did not like, it filled my weary days with care, it always kept me on the hike, and all ways dodging, here and there, and off I called on Pete and Mike in stony accents of despair. But now I dodge my bills no more, I hold that course to be a sin, and I regret the days of yore, when chased by bailiffs and their kin; when someone's knocking at the door, I do not fear to let him in.

"Tried to bring him down to The Elms at once," ordered Hugh. "There's a complot of his here, waiting to welcome him with open arms."

"Potts is coming, Mr. Green," he said, putting down the receiver. "Our Hiram C. And he's talking sense. It seems to me that we may get a little light thrown on the activities of Mr. Hocking and Herr Steinemann, and the other bloke."

The American nodded slowly. "Von Gratz," he said. "I remember his name now. Steel man. Maybe you're right, Captain, and that he knows something; anyway, I guess Hiram C. Potts and I stick closer than brothers till I restore him to the bosom of his family."

But Mr. Potts, when he did arrive, exhibited no great inclination to stick close to the detective; in fact, he showed the greatest reluctance to enter the house at all. As Algy had said, he was still weak and dazed, and the sight of the place where he had suffered so much produced such an effect on him that for a while Hugh feared he was going to have a relapse. At length, however, he seemed to get back his confidence, and was persuaded to come into the central room.

"It's all right, Mr. Potts," Drummond assured him over and over again. "Their gang is dispersed, and Lakington is dead. We're all friends here now. You're quite safe. This is Mr. Green, who has come over from New York especially to find you and take you back to your family."

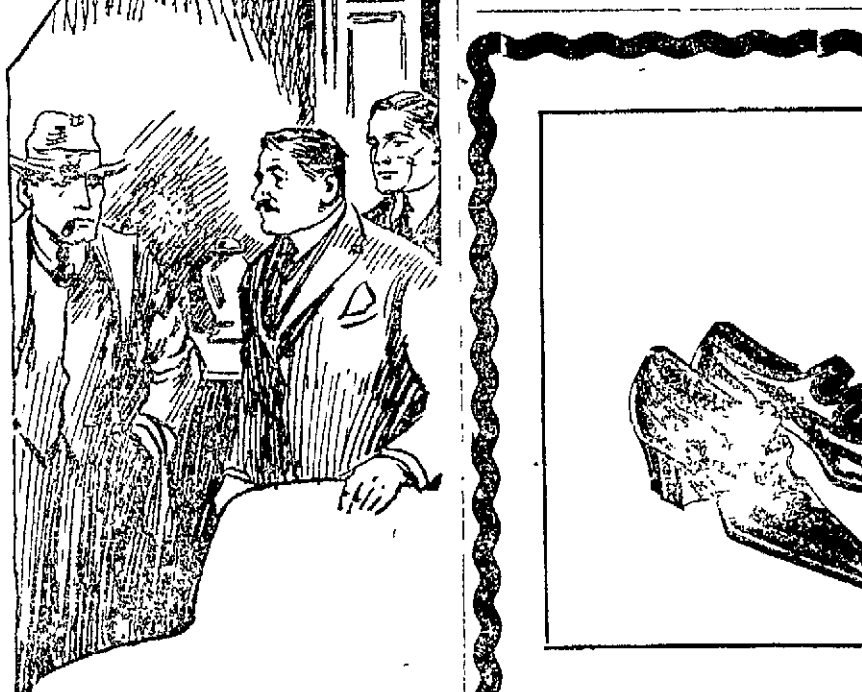

The millionaire stared in silence at the detective, who rolled his cigar round in his mouth.

"That's right, Mr. Potts. There's the little old sign," he threw back his coat, showing the police badge, and the millionaire nodded. "I guess you've had things humming on the other side, and if it hadn't been for the Captain here and his friends, they'd be humming still."

"I'm obliged to you, sir," said the American, speaking for the first time to Hugh. The words were slow and

"It's at my bank at this moment, Mr. Potts," said Hugh; "I took that paper, or part of it, that night."

hesitating as if he was not quite sure of his voice. "I seem to remember your face," he continued, "as part of the awful nightmare I've suffered the last few days—or is it weeks? I seem to remember having seen you, and you were always kind."

"That's all over now, Mr. Potts," said Hugh gently. "You got into the clutches of the most infernal gang of swine, and we've been trying to get you out again." He looked at him quietly. "Do you think you can remember enough to tell us what happened at the beginning? Take your time," he urged. "There's no hurry."

The millionaire passed his hand dazedly over his forehead.

"I was stopping at the Carlton," he began, "with Granger, my secretary. I sent him over to Belfast on a shipping deal and—" He paused and looked round the group. "Where is Granger?" he asked.

"Mr. Granger was murdered in Belfast," Mr. Potts said Drummond quietly. "He was a member of the gang that kidnapped you."

"Murdered! Jimmy Granger murdered!" He almost cried in his weakness. "What did the swine want to murder him for?"

"Because they wanted you alone," explained Hugh. "Private secretaries ask awkward questions."

After a while the millionaire recovered his composure, and with many breaks and pauses the slow, disjointed story continued:

"Lakington! That was the name of the man I met at the Carlton. And then there was another... Peter... Peterson. That's it. We all dined together, I remember, and it was after dinner, in my private sitting room, that Peterson put up his proposition to me... It was a suggestion

STATE-OWNED ENTERPRISES OF NEW SOUTH WALES NET PROFIT

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Sept. 7.—State-owned enterprises conducted by the labor government of New South Wales are not only rendering efficient service to the people and protecting them from the profiteers, but are returning substantial profits to the labor government.

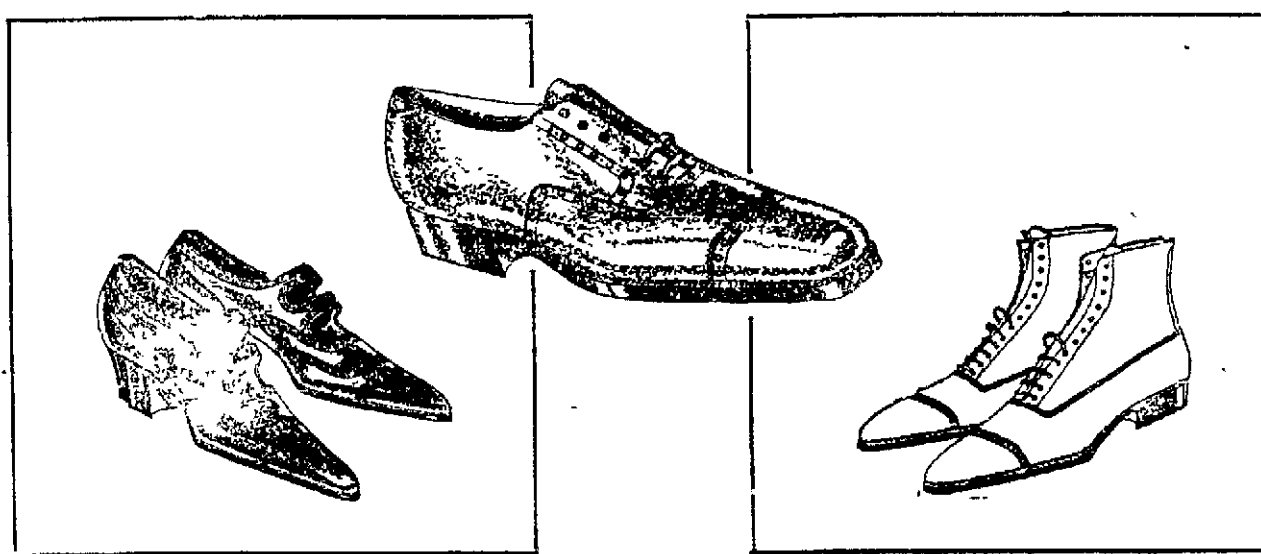

The state-owned bakery, which supplies all government institutions, hospitals, asylums, jails, etc.—not only supplied at 2 1/2 cent per two-pound loaf cheaper than private bakeries, but returned the government an added profit of $2,000. The state bakery as now enlarged its activities and is supplying the people of Sydney and suburbs with cheap bread thru municipal markets recently opened by the labor government.

The state-owned Monier pipe works, which makes all the government's concrete pipes, conduits, etc., has made a profit to the end of last June of $180,000. The state brickworks is also highly profitable. Not only has it supplied all the government's requirements at $3 per 1000 cheaper than private yards, but the employers receive yearly in wages $70,000 more than private brickmakers. On top of this, the brickworks have made an added profit of more than twice the capital cost of the undertaking.

The state drug shop supplies all hospitals and institutions, medicinal lodges and friendly societies with drugs cheaper than private drug stores and makes an added profit of $10,000 per annum. The state metal quarries show a profit of $170,000. The trawlers and other state-owned enterprises also show substantial profits.

The benefit to the people is, of course, more real than apparent, since the presence of the state-owned enterprises is a powerful factor in compelling private capitalists to keep their prices down in order to compete with the state shops.

MARRIAGE OF MISS KATHRYN SNYDER AND MR. JOHN E. WILEY, BALTIMORE, MD., TUESDAY EVENING IS SURPRISE

Coming as a complete surprise to her many friends in this city is the marriage of Miss Kathryn C. Snyder, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Snyder, 327 south Fourth-st. and John E. Wiley, of Baltimore, Md., which took place Tuesday evening, at 6:30 o'clock, in the home of the bride's parents.

The Rev. John I. Wean, pastor of Grace M. E. church read the marriage service in the presence of Miss Snyder's immediate relatives and a few close friends.

The bride was dressed in a handsome tailored suit fashioned of brown duvetyne with trimmings of nutria and a becoming brown velvet hat to correspond.

Miss Esther Carpenter attended the bride as maid of honor and Mr. Snyder gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride is one of Coshocton's most popular and attractive young women and the first in the younger social set to be married. Her pleasing personality and winning manner have made for her countless friends who will be interested in her marriage.

Miss Snyder graduated from the Coshocton High school, attended Wooster College and was graduated from the Chautauqua School of Physical Education at Chautauqua, N. Y. The Folly of Cheating Nature

Many people get the idea that they can keep their nerves on edge and their digestion upset year after year, and "get away with it." They sleep only half as much as they should—and never get properly and thoroughly rested.

If you tire out easily, if you are getting pale and anemic, if your food doesn't digest as it should, would it not be well to stop and consider whether coffee or tea is having its effect on you?

The caffeine and their found in coffee and tea are drugs, as any doctor can tell you. Is it any wonder that the steady use of these drugs sometimes causes serious damage?

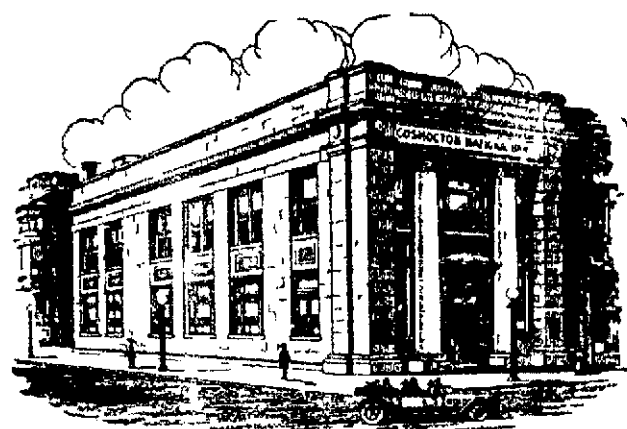

If you really want to be fair with yourself, and give yourself the opportunity you deserve in order to do your best work, make up your mind to quit coffee and tea for awhile—and drink delicious, appetizing Postum instead.

Postum permits sound, refreshing sleep which builds strength, energy and endurance.

Order Postum from your Grocer today. Drink this hot, refreshing beverage in place of tea or coffee for 10 days and see what a wonderful difference it will make in the way you feel.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal when it burns, leaves behind uncombustible ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal indigestible material which if not completely eliminated from the system each day becomes a food for the evil bacteria which infect the bowels. From this mass of left over waste toxins, and ptomaine-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside medicine before breakfast each morning. Drink a glass of hot water with a pinch of phosphate to wash out of the bowels the poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, indigestion, constipation, nervousness, who wake up with bad taste in the mouth, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quartet of bottles of phosphate from the drug store and begin practicing regular sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

FIRST thing you do next—go get some makin' papers and some Prince Albert tobacco and puff away on a home made cigarette that will hit on all your smoke cylinders!

No use sitting-by and saying maybe you'll cash this hunch tomorrow. Do it while the going's good, for man-o-man, you can't figure out what you're passing by! Such flavor, such coolness, such more-ish-ness—well, the only way to get the words emphatic enough is to go to it and know yourself!

And, besides Prince Albert's delightful flavor, there's its freedom from bite and parch which is cut out by our exclusive patented process! Certainly—you smoke P. A. from sun up till you slip between the sheets without a comeback.

Prince Albert is the tobacco that revolutionized pipe smoking. If you never could smoke a pipe—forget it! You can—AND YOU WILL—if you use Prince Albert for packing! It's a smoke revelation in a jimmy pipe or a cigarette!

KISSING

Manager James Hagans announces "Kissing Time" the George V. Hobart-Ivan Caryll musical comedy success for an engagement of one night on Tuesday, Sept. 13.

Having scored a hit in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago last season and coming here with the same elaborate stage settings and dressed in the latest Parisian fashion it should please the most exacting.

The principal roles are in the hands of Eve Lynn, Dan Marble, Mabel French, Murray Stephens, Mabel Gould, Charles Horne, Jesse Wingham and Augustus Duell.

Nonsense that might be absurd in other circumstances becomes delightfully mirth provoking in the hands of these finished players and the most discerning musical critic will probably be satisfied when he realizes that some have been engaged more for acting ability than for their vocal attainments. The music, by Ivan Caryll is catchy—with a good swing and tinkle and the hits "Bill and Coo," "Kissing Time," "Love's Telephone" and the "Mimi" waltz are of the whistleable kind.

AKRON, Sept. 7—Professor W. A. Moore formerly of Cornell College, Iowa and now chemist in the public schools here, was married last night to Wilma Hahn of Springfield, Iowa.

SPAIN AT WAR WITH AFRICAN TRIBESMEN

Now IS THE TIME to Prepare for BABY'S COMING

"A Mother, the holiest thing alive."—Coleridge.

THE expectant mother owes it not only to herself to prepare for an easier delivery, but to her child who should be stronger, healthier and more robust thru her care and intelligence.

What is one of the most important things a mother-to-be should do?

The universal answer from thousands of experienced mothers is this: The mother-to-be should massage the muscles and nerves involved in the function of child-bearing, daily, with an application of Mother's Friend. Because—

Three generations of mothers record the virtue of Mother's Friend for not only allaying distress in advance, but for assisting nature in assuring a speedy recovery for the mother.

So thoroughly has Mother's Friend proven its wonderful efficiency in thousands of cases, that any expectant mother who does not employ its use is directed deprives herself of a powerful agent for her relief and well-being, during the period of pending maternity, and of her prospects for an easier delivery when the eventful hour arrives.

The women who appreciate Mother's Friend the most, and who are loudest in their praise of it, are those who unfortunately did not use it with their first baby and who, thru its use with the second one, were able to fully realize the almost unbelievable relief it gave.

Mrs. Olive Vanden, 10 Grape St., Gallopis, Ohio, says: "Before using Mother's Friend I suffered from Wednesday till Sunday. With my next child I used Mother's Friend and was sick only about three hours."

Many doctors and nurses recommend Mother's Friend. For external use—it is perfectly harmless. Begin its use at once. Sold by all druggists.

WARNING: Avoid using plain oils, greases and substitutes—they act only on the skin and may cause harm without doing good.

The Magic Word.
Collier's Weekly says: "In Ohio there is one of the world's model factories. It manufactures a product known and sold the world around. It has made the man who founded it and who still owns it very rich. What is more important, it has proved the training ground for many men who have left to go into other lines of business and have, in many instances, themselves become heads of big business enterprises. A visitor on being shown through the plant notices printed cards prominently placed on the walls of office and factory rooms bearing the single word—'Think.'"

We like to put it in capitals that way because we believe it is the most important thing in the battery business.

Of course we can't make a new battery out of an old one, or a good battery out of a poor one, or a long-lived battery out of a short-lived one. There are limits even to battery service.

But we can make any battery last longer and serve better if you give us a chance. We can make the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery do both—and it already holds records for long life and reliability.

We can always do more with a battery if we get a chance right at the start, although we are ready to help anytime. Come in!

Canada is watching the league's action on this point very closely. She knows she is in no danger of attack from her great neighbor to the south and does not see why she should be pledged to care among nations to those like the Balkans which are constantly going to war."

GENEVA, Sept. 7.—The Chilean delegation to the League of Nations assembly meeting this afternoon issued a statement denying the right of the league to interfere with the Chilean-Bolivian territorial dispute and claiming that such interference would be a violation of the Monroe Doctrine. Canada is determined to press her fight for the elimination of article ten of the League of Nations covenant. This was revealed by Minister of Justice Doherty of the Canadian cabinet, and head of the Canadian delegation.

An Imaginary Illness

By HAZEL SMITH

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union)

Mrs. Susan Roberts was a chronic invalid. She knew it herself. She had influenced the more impressive of her friends with the conviction. As to her devoted but unfortunate husband, whatever his opinion he fully realized that she was making home life about as wretched and unlivable as it could well be.

What had started well and healthy Mrs. Roberts on the downward road to despair and dissolution, was the visit to the town of a quack. This irresponsible individual scattered a pamphlet describing his nostrums and dwelling gravely upon the dangers of "wasting away." Just at that time Mrs. Roberts had lost ten pounds. It was warm weather that had reduced her flesh, and when she began to worry over her fancied ailments she lost ten more.

Young Dr. Allen was called in. At the outset he told his patient that there was nothing in the world the matter with her.

"If Lucy Day was only married off," she was wont to say lugubriously, "I would rest more easily in my grave from a sense of duty done."

Dear Lucy! the saving grace of the situation. She was pretty as a picture, and loved company and pleasure as well as any live healthy Miss of eighteen. She felt great gratitude, however, towards the aunt, who had taken care of her since she had been left an orphan. She had learned to take most of the household work on her own young willing shoulders when her aunt was well. When her fancied ailments came upon her there were added the duties of a patient, untiring nurse.

Lucy therefore had little time to think of beaux or parties. As to love, her practical life banished romance. It was true she had flushed and her heart beat a trifle faster when, in assisting Dr. Allen to prepare a bandage for her aunt, their hands met and he gave her a kindly smile. Later he had invited her to a local entertainment.

"I dare not leave my aunt, Dr. Allen," she said plainly. "Only make her well, and it would be a great pleasure to accompany you."

One day Dr. Allen met John Roberts on the street. He had not called on his patient for several days, and he naturally asked her husband how his wife was getting along.

"Poorly, doctor, very poorly," replied John gloomily. "Now she insists she is losing the use of her limbs."

"Indeed, how is that?" questioned the doctor.

"Fell over a chair and lamed her foot."

A speculative look came into the doctor's face. He smiled slightly and his eyes brightened.

"Somehow we have got to get your wife's mind away from her hobby," said the doctor. "The bruised foot will do it."

Dr. Allen arrived at the Roberts home that night to find the invalid occupying her customary couch downstairs. The doctor finally got to the point of inspecting the injured foot.

The grave way his face drew down at once attracted his patient's attention. She became interested as he pronounced the mystic words "pedallic obstruction of the oblongata," then alarmed as he said seriously:

"This is a vital case, Mrs. Roberts. Your foot must receive the most careful treatment."

Inside of two days Mrs. Roberts had wandering aches and pains. The doctor nursed her fears. He hinted at a possible operation.

"Doctor Allen, isn't it a little cruel to keep up this farce?" remonstrated the gentle-hearted Lucy one day.

"What! When I am satisfied that it will lead to your accepting that invitation of mine?" smiled the doctor.

"Why, my dear little friend, your aunt is eating anything and everything to counteract the toxic influence of that oblongata, isn't she? That's all she needed—good solid nourishment."

One day the doctor placed a metal strip in the bandage around his patient's foot. When he took it out the next morning he dropped it into some liquid. It hissed and sizzled, as he intended. Some more scientific hocus pocus. Then he washed off the coloring and said the toxin was all out of his patient's system.

"You are a well woman—get washed," he advised.

When Mrs. Roberts tipped the scales at 165 pounds, showing her loss regained and five pounds to the good, she screamed in joyful hysterics. Then she laughed, danced, and—no more wasting away!

Dr. Allen made a call—not professional this time—on his patient next day.

"Mrs. Roberts," he said, "you used to worry a good deal because Lucy wasn't married off, do you remember?"

"Why—yes," she admitted, wondering what was coming next.

"Well, I want to take her off your hands," smiled the doctor. "We are engaged, and that 'change' I ordered for you can include a pleasant shopping trip to the city, selecting her wedding trousseau."

COBURN'S MINSTREL
PLEASING TO LOCAL
PATRONS TUES. EVE.

The J. A. Coburn's minstrels was again given a hearty reception at the Sixth St. Theatre Tuesday evening by Coshocton theatregoers.

Charlie Gano the premier black-face comedian with the show and the jolly, jovial, joker of the evening carried off the lion's share of the honors. Charlie proved to be a human dynamo in rendering his comic rib-ticklers and his wheezes kept the audience vibrating continuously.

Other comedians who deserve mention are Nate Mulroy, Hank White, Happy Ruel, Irving Gesland, Bill Anderson, James Bonham, Sam Johnson, Dick Caldwell, Marc Townsley and Eddie Flaherty. Nate Mulroy was the king of the black face comedians during the minstrel first part. Mulroy collected several encores with his song, "I'm a Wild-cat's Playmate."

The first cutrain rose on a beautiful scenic production of America's beauty spot, the Golden Gate at sunset in San Francisco, California.

A harmonious blending of music, melody, beautiful costumes and floral environment characterized the minstrel in general.

The afterpart included the appearance of Coburn's minstrel, premier soprano and impersonator, Karl Denton. Mr. Denton made a hit in his feminine impersonations. "Martina Jane Green's Return From The Seminary" was a short sketch demonstrating a little touch of old fashioned minstrelsy. Sam Johnson was the leading comedian in this sketch Gano made his second appearance on the program in his song and monolog of "Nice People in Timbuctoo." The "Oversen Boys' Singing Octette" was a striking feature on the program.

Musgrove's classy clowns of saxophone, including Musgrove, Rice, Leftell and De Garland, entertained the saxophone music lovers last evening with some real selections.

Gano's latest Hindoo extravaganza, introducing "Shanghaied In India," was the closing number on the program. This two act sketch was entertaining.

The next big attraction at the Sixth Street theatre will be "Kissing Time" at that theatre Tuesday, September 13. The cast is composed of 40 people. The show carries two car loads of scenery.

NEW
PRICES

—These latest prices simply emphasize Oldsmobile's fixed policy to keep prices well in advance of present markets.

—That these values have already been appreciated as exceptional is proven by Oldsmobile's standing among the first half dozen producers of the year.

—Now through public demand for Oldsmobile products, and a further retrenchment of manufacturing costs, we are enabled to offer these amazingly low prices.

—We have based these prices not so much on present costs as on the firm conviction that increased demand will more than justify this step as sound, far-sighted business policy.
